Chapter 6 Exercise 58

Konstantinos Benekos

March 2024

58.
Generate a program in R which creates synthetic/plausible/random data in such a way, that the phenomenon of overfitting is presented if these data are used for estimating coefficients of a linear regression model. Your program should display all indications that support that the model has undergone overfitting.